

Dear Friends in Jesus Christ,

I am sure that everyone wants to go to heaven without any doubt, but how many of us live in such a way that we are preparing to go to heaven is the question the Gospel of today is placing before us. Today's Gospel is one of the most admired Gospel passages by many other religious people. The Gospel very clearly teaches us that, the values of the Kingdom of God and of this world are contradicting to each other. Because of the same reason sometimes we may have to make the excuse; it is difficult to follow the teachings of Jesus. The Gospel says: "Blessed are you who are poor.... Blessed are you who are now hungry.... Blessed are you who are now weeping.... Blessed are you when people hate, and exclude you..." Who would believe this preaching of Jesus? If this preaching of Jesus is to be believed, one thing is clear that it is not easy to enter the Kingdom of God. No doubt, Jesus never invited anyone to follow Him by giving false promises; rather He always warned them with the true sacrifice one will have to make. In the Gospel of Luke 9: 57-58, we see "someone said to Jesus, "I will follow You wherever you go." Jesus replied, "Foxes have dens and birds of the air have nest, but the Son of Man has no place to lay His head." In other words, Jesus says, "No gain without Pain." It is about this pain and gain; the Gospel is all about.

Jesus gives a positive meaning to the reality of suffering through the Gospel of today, provided it is for the glory of His name. Believe it or not, suffering brings us closer to God and allows us to depend more on God. Jesus did not say poverty, or hunger, or sadness, or hatred is a blessing, rather He says that people are blessed when they are poor, hungry, weeping and hated for the sake of the Kingdom of God. These are conditions of need and dependence, which make us closer to God. Even though, the world keeps the suffering away, Jesus keeps them closer to His heart, because He knows the meaning of suffering because He suffered for us and it is through His suffering, He bought the Kingdom of God for us. So, as Christians, if we believe in His blessings, we should have the courage to believe in His suffering too, because Jesus reminds us that: "If anyone wishes to come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." (Mt.16:24)

In the world, nobody wants to be poor, or hungry, or weep or be hated. Instead, people want to be rich, to be filled, to laugh and be well spoken of. But, Jesus says, "Woe to you who are richWoe to you who are filled now.....Woe to you who laugh now,Woe to you when all speak well of you....." Jesus gives us this warning and reminder because when we are well off, always there will be a temptation to forget God. We may be tempted to treat the gifts of God as gods. Being well off is not contrary to the will of God. Because, in the Bible we can see, Abraham was so rich, but his richness did not shut his ears to answer God's call. But, in the abundance of richness when we fail to open our hearts to the poor and needy, that becomes a sin in our lives, and thus we slip away from a great Christian responsibility: Love of the neighbor. The Gospel teaches us that, a certain kind of maturity is expected from each one of us in dealing with worldly things. Yes, let us not be lost in worldly things, but let us be lost in the love of God, by sharing, caring, and loving.

As we continue to celebrate this Holy Mass, let us pray, "Lord grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference." God Bless.
