Church Keys Reminder – St. Sebastian

If you have been entrusted with church keys as part of a leadership role or special responsibility, we thank you for your service and dedication. If you are no longer serving in a leadership position or do not currently have church responsibilities, we kindly ask that you return your keys to the church office at your earliest convenience. This helps us keep our church safe and organized for everyone. Thank you for your understanding, cooperation, and continued support of our parish family.

Altar of Remembrance

Both church families are requested to bring in pictures of your deceased loved ones and place them by the Baptismal font. The church recommends that we remember our dear ones and pray for them particularly during the entire month of November. Please remember to offer a mass for your deceased loved ones. May their souls rest in peace. Amen.

May the souls of the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

Ministry Opportunities

There are many ways to participate in church ministry, including serving as an Altar Server, Eucharistic Minister, Lector, assisting with the First Sunday Breakfast (men only), or helping count the offertory, etc. We invite you to prayerfully consider how God may be calling you to serve in our parish community. There are copies of the Stewardship of Time and Talent forms on the table for your convenience.

Dear friends in Christ,

Today we continue to celebrate the communion of saints – one of the fruits of Christ’s death and resurrection – now turning our attention to the souls of the faithful departed. Whereas yesterday we focused on the souls, known or unknown to us, whom Christ has welcomed to the heavenly wedding banquet, today we focus on the souls who are in purgatory, being purified and made ready to enter into the presence of the glory of God. Yesterday we rejoiced with the saints and asked for their prayers before the throne of God, and today we remember and offer our prayers for the souls of the faithful departed. We lift up in prayer not only our deceased family members but also all the souls in purgatory who have no one left to remember them.

Such words might seem sad or depressing, but they should not be. To the contrary, they should fill us with hope and comfort. For one day we, too, will have met our own death and will have no one left to remember us. The thought of being forgotten is something that can be troubling. But it should not trouble those of us who have faith in Christ – those of us who are part of the communion of saints. Because we know, and today reminds us, that we will never be forgotten. The Church will continue to remember us – continue to pray for us and our loved ones if we are in purgatory – for as long as necessary.

This union we enjoy in Christ invites us to do more on behalf of the faithful departed. Often in our Christian life, we focus our attention on reflecting on what we do, don’t do, could do, for those around us – family, friends, strangers. And that is an aspect of the spiritual life that is, of course, important. But we sometimes forget that we can also do something on behalf of our loved ones who are no longer with us. We can offer prayers for them, most especially offer a Mass for them, to ease their time in purgatory. We can also offer spiritual sacrifices for them – for example, when faced with those things we know we must do but really don’t like doing, we can offer that burden for the good of a soul in purgatory and bear it with grace and charity.

As Jesus himself tells us, it is the will of the Father that all who believe in him may have eternal life. Today we pray that the Father’s will be done and that the souls of the faithful departed may enjoy eternal life with God. Amen.
